

Our Vow!

There is no I, There is no They! You are They! We are They! Thus say We when Talking about Us

But How?

This is the game we've wanted to play for years; it feels good to launch best print service.

Now the real work starts – today marks the beginning of our ideas for the product and we look forward to rolling out new trends for all seekers.

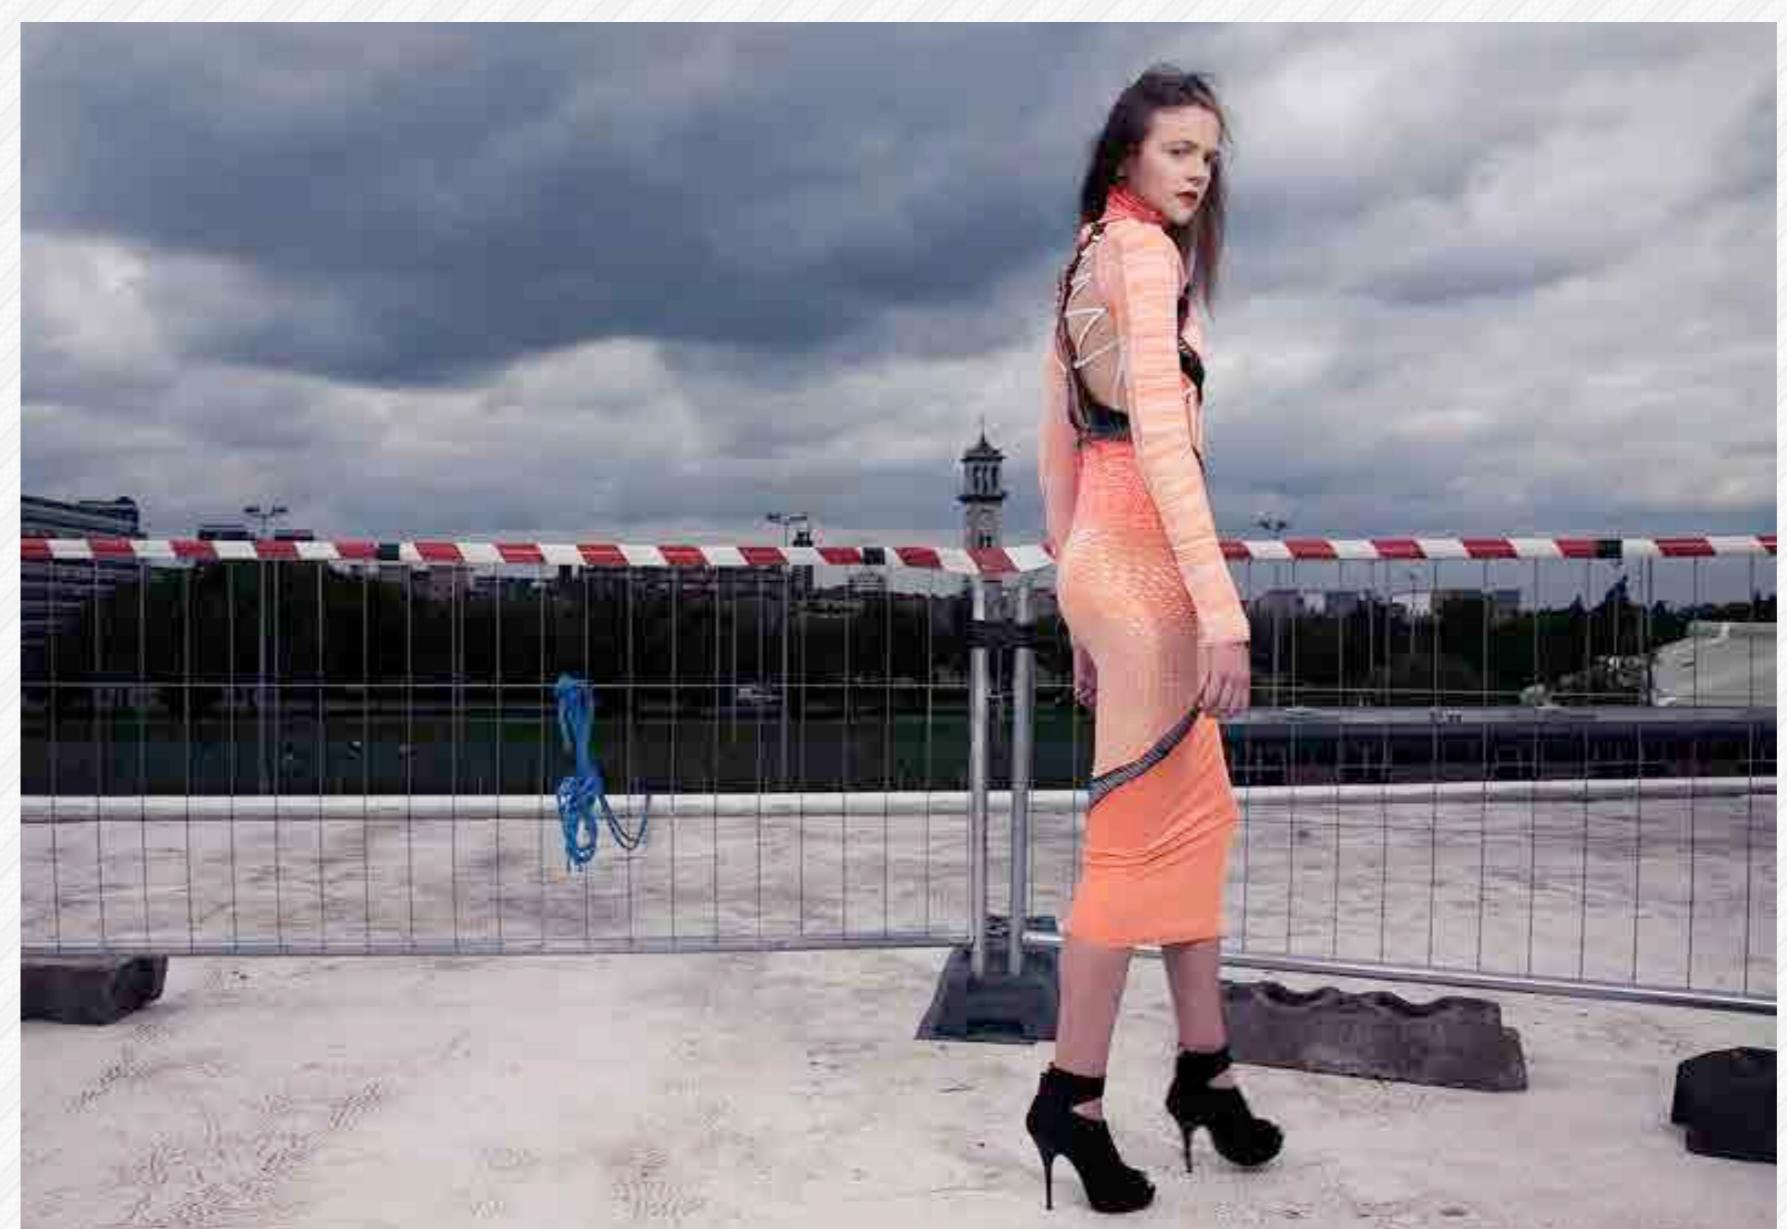

Our Work...

We believe in good planning, hard work, transparency and communication. We love to design, create, inspire and share. You'll love mixing and matching our ideas, designs, and integrations to suit your needs—think of it as your own personal design platform.

Say Hey!

Three wishes, to be exact. And ixnay on the wishing for more wishes. That's all. Three. Uno, dos, tres. No substitutions, exchanges or refunds. Come inside for Questions, wishes and a lot more ...

Our Vow

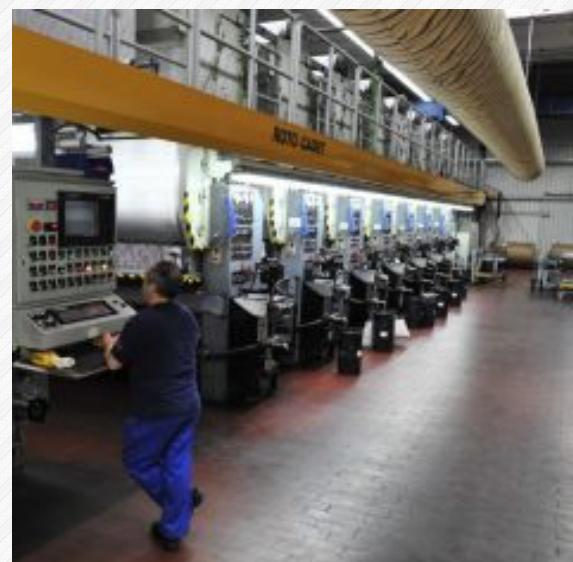

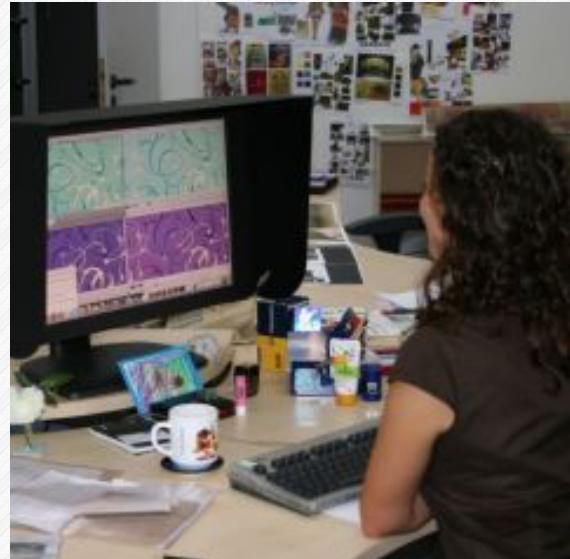

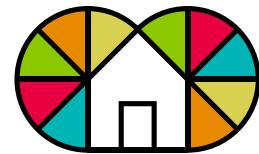

We're a team of artists, designers, trend hunters, tinkerers and takeout critics, working around the clock to make UnluTransfer the most powerful apparel and interior print service in the universe.

Transfer printing to be in the lead we offer our customers gold/silver foil printing, embossing and placement or continuous digital printing services in-house. We are proud to cooperate with world's best and largest company in both production and sales of transfer printing paper, TRANSFERTEX GmbH & Co. Holding the largest design stock throughout Turkey our goal is to put forward the same printing quality and color identity both at meter and millionth.

Transfer printing, is also known as thermo printing, dry printing or sublimation printing, is a relatively recent, state-of-the-art technology for printing textiles. The process, which was newly discovered in 1957, was further developed over subsequent 10 years to a point for industrial application. Since then, this technology has become widespread throughout the world. Groups of transfer print users and the installation of several thousand transfer calendar presses in the textile industry in many countries have experienced to the extraordinary and rapid expansion of this process. The constantly increasing proportion of transfer printing in relation to textile printing as a whole lies in the fact that it has decisive advantages over conventional wet printing of textiles.

But enough about us—let's talk about you. Whether you own a retail house or fabric wholesaler, you need a printing service that takes care of the complicated stuff so you can focus on your job.

CROMOHOUSE

printing solutions

OUR VOWSERVICESCLIENTSLOOKBOOKCONTACT

Services

Cromohouse offers design and color to suit all lifestyles, preferences and products. Our specialty is creative excellence, whether you are sourcing the hottest new trend or something more traditional and romantic. We are the leading resource for inspiration and style for any designer. Our creative team can quickly evaluate your needs and produce instant color representations using the latest CAD technology.

Transfer printing to be in the lead we offer our customers gold/silver foil printing, embossing and placement or continuous digital printing services in-house. We are proud to cooperate with world's best and largest company in both production and sales of transfer printing paper, TRANSFERTEX GmbH & Co. Holding the largest design stock throughout Turkey our goal is to put forward the same printing quality and color identity both at meter and millionth.

Transfer printing, is also known as thermo printing, dry printing or sublimation printing, is a relatively recent, state-of-the-art technology for printing textiles. The process, which was newly discovered in 1957, was further developed over subsequent 10 years to a point for industrial application. Since then,

